15 VERONICA VERONESE

A. New.

Se penchant vivement, la Veronica jeta les premières notes sur la feuille vierge. Ensuite elle prit l'archet du violon pour réaliser son rêve : mais avant de décrocher l'instrument suspendu, elle resta quelques instants immobile en écoutant l'oiseau inspirateur, pendant que sa main gauche errait sur les cordes cherchant le motif suprême encore éloigné. C'était le mariage des voix de la nature et de l'âme—l'aube d'une création mystique

A squalid interior, showing misery and poverty brought upon innocent heads by a drunken husband and father. The man has just entered in a state of intoxication; the mother with her children are expostulating with and upbraiding him. The poor half-starved dog seems to join in their protest. The face of the unnatural father is painted from that of Greuze himself

325.10. — 32 THE TWO SISTERS

The scene is the interior of a cottage, where a humbly-clad peasant-girl, in a striped gown, seated beside her father, is being held by him at arm's length from her gaily-dressed sister, who has just entered, and who, bedecked with large pearls and other ornaments, is holding out to her indignant parent a purse of gold in the hope of thereby appeasing him. The book of the play she carries in her hand is suggestive of her having fled from home to go upon the stage

56 THE FORTUNE-TELLER

23 415. = . =

This beautiful example of Boucher's decorative art shows a young girl reclining on the grass at the base of a statue, with garments about her in rich folds of blue, yellow and white, and gracefully holding a rose. As her eyes fall in thoughtfulness at what she is hearing, the fortune-teller, with long red robe, bends over her, whispering words into her ear, which may well be interpreted by the two circling figures in the air above, one of whom is threatening her with his amorous dart. The disposition of these two little nude figures among the stately trees is admirable. The foreground is somewhat in shadow; but on the part where the light falls apples and grapes have been thrown

57 THE LOVE MESSAGE

Here a party of four ladies and a youth are gathered on the banks of a stream, in which the youth, in scarlet costume and broad-brimmed hat, has been fishing. The interest of the moment is the sending away of a dove, the bearer of a message, which the two on the right are holding, and are evidently in doubt as to the wisdom of despatching it. The two other ladies, one seated with a basket of fruit and flowers on her arm, and the other in light brown costume, and holding a basket of grasses, seem equally concerned in the enterprise. The background on the right consists of slender stems of trees in full foliage, and a dwarfed pillar on which stands a massive vase full of blossoming flowers. On the left there is an expanse of softly clouded blue sky

58 LOVE'S OFFERING

Here a popular theme of the French painters of the period is treated in a very charming way by this painter. Led by the figure of Love, the two with their offering of flowers have come to place them at the shrine of Cupid around which rose-bushes profusely grow. Dressed in pale blue and white, with narrow blue ribbons about their waists and wrists, and barefooted, the two have arrived at the shrine, when the still romantic time of evening is coming on, and the clouds are just being touched with gleams of sunset

59 EVENING

Here a shepherdess, at fall of day, is seated by a little stream, asleep, a narrow ribbon circling her wrist and attached to a sheep-dog. She wears a blue gown and white bodice trimmed with pink, and her straw hat lies beside her. A youth, with loose red coat, has come stealthily near, and is touching the girl's cheek with a straw. The leafage above is specially well delineated by Boucher, the high overhanging branches coming harmoniously across the deep of the evening sky
